

Here's a few pages about Green-Aiders...

FIRST THINGS FIRST

a quick introduction about Green-Aiders

British wildflowers are under threat, causing a shortage of pollen for the bees which has real impact on the food we eat. Our mission is to engage the public in righteous acts of civil disobedience by launching green-aids at urban neglected patches of land to grow bee-friendly wildflower meadows and reverse the decline.

SEED PAPER THAT GROWS

Is an eco-friendly, biodegradable and a sustainable paper made from post-consumer materials embedded with pollinator-supporting wildflowers. The poster designs are printed onto seed paper, which over time would germinate, and the poster itself would start growing with British wildflowers.

Billboards over the city will encourage the public to scan the QR code to pick up a free grenade at the nearest armoury. These specially packaged designed bombs are in partnership with Kabloom in an attempt to green at the grey from urbanisation.
