

Maggie Callaghan

Experience

Mother Design London

During my internship I had the opportunity to work on designing the installation space for BBC Sounds at the London Podcast Festival 2022. I benefited from the opportunity to have one to one creative sessions with the design team, learning about all aspects of the design studio including strategies, creative decision making and how brand guidelines are created.

Storehouse Magazine

Storehouse is Norwich University of the Art's official student magazine and I have been a part of the editorial team for four issues. During my final issue I was Assistant Editor.

Compendia

Freelance designer for Compendia lifestyle brand. I am responsible for digital content creation, creating brand presentations and promotional type animation.

Part-time Employment

Since the age of 15 I have been working in part time employment. From these various job roles I have learnt some very valuable transferable skills including time management alongside my studies, the attitude to give the customers the best experience possible and articulate communication skills.

I am a graphic design graduate specialising in editorial and publishing design. I love to be experimental with my colour, typography, finishing choices and using physical and digital processes to elevate my work. With an inquisitive drive to come up with strong and unique ideas that are presented with high levels of confidence.

07950860972 * mcallaghan2002@outlook.com * @thecurlydesigner_

Education

Norwich University of the Arts

Design for Publishing
2020-2023

King John Sixth Form

English Language A
Media Studies A*
Sociology A*
2018-2020

Skills

Software

Confident in Adobe InDesign
Confident in Adobe Photoshop
Basic Adobe Illustrator
Basic Adobe After Effects

